

The New 430 Sports Coupe –

A Contender

For Boat Of 2009

Mustang Marine, Australia's leading manufacturer of Sports Flybridge, Sports Cruisers and now the all new Sports Coupe range of luxury cruisers, has released the latest concept images and information about their stunning new 430 Sports Coupe.

With growing demand for medium range cruising, the 430 Sports Coupe has been designed to offer that and much more. The team at Mustang has leveraged on the proven performance and sea-keeping ability of their popular 43 Sports Flybridge hull, and adapted it for their new marque.

Swanky New Features

The vessel comes with a range of exclusive electrical appointments with a software driven touch screen vessel management system, the latest marine electronics and teamed with an extensive entertainment system.

Owner feedback has driven a clear focus on safety elements within the design, with wide walk-around side decks and cockpit steps, high bow-rails and conveniently positioned hand-rails to ensure safety when onboard. The bow includes a cushioned sun-pad with drink holders, speakers and remote audio controls for the entertainment system.

Plentiful storage has been integrated into the design with the option of a two or three-cabin layout and the latest ergonomic design for the aft-galley and saloon sure to impress. The port and master cabins include large windows in the hull for natural light.

The 430 is finished with American black walnut floors and high gloss American cherry cabinetry, with the very best Italian leather for the saloon lounge and helm chair.

The beamy cockpit area features an optional teak floor, large ice-box and easy access through to the saloon via the large opening bulkhead door and electric galley window. The large boot storage area includes outboard brackets, fender storage and a fold-out BBQ, and an optional hydraulic swim platform.

Available In Singapore

The all new 430 Sports Coupe will be launched in late January 2009. Mustang has incorporated all that you would expect from luxury apartment living, with real performance and amazing specifications into the 430 Sports Coupe – a major contender to be the boat of 2009. ■
